

Source

Source is an image stock web application that allows users with a premium membership to download pictures.

We do not yet have a company branding, so we will need both the web design and the website development. The features we need for our new website are as follows:

- A Visitor can only see the home page of the website.
- If A Visitor wants to see and download the pictures from the website, they have to sign up or sign in.
- A Visitor can only sign up for the website by getting a membership at the same time.
- The image-stock website should provide the visitor with two different membership options. The basic membership is $9.99 and the pro membership is $19.99.
- A User should be able to edit, update and delete their account.
- A User should be able to change their membership.
- A User should be able to see all the categories on the website.
- An Admin User should be able to create, edit, and delete other admin users.
- An Admin User should be able to create, edit, and delete other regular users.
- Only Admin Users should be able to create, update and delete categories.
- Only Admin Users should be able to create, update and delete pictures from the website.
- A User should be able to search for content on the website.
- A Picture should have a title, description, and the image itself.
- A Picture can be associated with multiple categories.
- A Category can be associated with multiple pictures.
- The website should be hosted and we should be able to access it using a domain.

We are looking for an estimated project cost and a timeline.

Thank you,

The Source team
