

RecyBuddies aims at making recycling easier. Our goal is to connect recyclers with people who want to dispose of recyclable materials.

We do not yet have a company branding, so we will need both the web design and the website development. The features we need for our new website are as follows:

- A visitor to the website should be able to see a nice and welcoming landing page.
- The User should be logged in or sign-up in order to publish items for pick-up.
- The User should be logged in or sign-up in order to choose to pick up items.
- A User should be able to cancel a pick-up if they want.
- When a User cancels a pick-up the item should be displayed again for other users to pick up.
- The User should be able to both pick up recyclable materials as well as publish their own recyclable items for other users to pick up.
- A User should not be allowed to pick up their own published recyclable items.
- A User should have a form where they can fill out the information about the items they want to make available for pick-up.
- The Users must provide the address for the items they want to make available for pick-up.
- A User can choose to delete the items they published for pick-up.
- A User should be able to see who has chosen to pick up the items they published for pick-up.
- A User should be able to see the items they have chosen to pick up.
- The website should be hosted and we should be able to access it using a domain.

We are looking for an estimated project cost and a timeline.

Thank you,

The RecyBuddies team.
