PerfectPresent

PerfectPresent aims at helping gif-givers find the perfect present for their loved ones.

We do not yet have a company branding, so we will need both the web design and the website development. The features we need for our new website are as follows:

- Our users should be able to see a nice and welcoming landing page.
- The gift-givers should be required to sign-up or sign in before being able to use the website's functionalities.
- Users should be able to fill out a form with basic information about the person being gifted.
- The form should ask questions about the budget available, the hobbies of the person being gifted, and the age group of the person receiving the gift.
- The information about the person being gifted should be used to narrow down the available gifts for purchase.
- Users should be able to select from multiple product categories so that they can pick the perfect present.
- Users should be able to create a wishlist with the gifts displayed on the website.
- Users should be able to remove items from their wishlists.
- The presents shown on the website should be available in an online store.
- Whenever a user clicks on an item they should be presented with the option to wishlist it or purchase it in an external online store.
- On the item's page, if the users click on "purchase" they should be taken to an external online store where they can purchase the gift.
- The website should be hosted and we should be able to access it using a domain.

We are looking for an estimated project cost and a timeline.

Thank you,
The PerfectPresent team
